G. W. U. Head Gives Stirring Welcome to Students in This Centennial Year, Urging Support of City As Well As Student Body to Assist the Growing University

By WILLIAM MILLER COLLIER,
President, The George Washington University.

The University begins its one hundredth year of continuous activity with an enrollment which, although not yet fully tabulated, gives promise of being much larger than even last year's record-breaking attendance. The figures for the year from June, 1919, to June, 1920 (including the 667 who were enrolled in the summer school of July and August, 1919, and including pupils in the nurses' training school), were 4,588.

The summer school of this year, 1920, showed an enrollment of about 1,050. The great increase (50 per cent) over the summer school of the previous year and the number who have already applied for admission this fall justify the confident prediction of an enrollment of at least 5,000 and probably 5,500 before the expiration of the year.

While attendance is not always a measure of progress, it has great significance when standards have been maintained or raised, as is the case with us. Our numbers are, therefore, a matter of satisfaction because they show an ever-widening field of high service.

Yet the number we teach is but a small portion of the great body of men and women in Washington who are fitted for, and who would pursue, courses of recognized university standard if increased facilities were extended to them. The University needs money for this purpose.

The citizens of the District of Columbia and, indeed, the friends of education everywhere, should liberally contribute to its endowment in order that its work may be better carried on.

In the case of George Washington University, with its constituency so largely composed of young men and women who are earning their living while studying, there is no danger that a liberal endowment would destroy independence of character. Everywhere, but particularly here, it is true that the financial help that one gives to universities promotes individualism and independence because such institutions help men by teaching them how to help themselves.

Since the cost of education is so great that it ought not to fall entirely upon the student, it follows that the greater the number of students in an institution, the more should its endowment be increased. Our large enrollment is brought to the attention of the friends of the University and the friends of education generally, in order to remind them that our needs are increasing faster than our revenues; also to show them how great and how rapidly increasing and how permanent is the demand for education.

It is also very important to remember that the greater part of the students who are educated at the George Washington University cannot go to other colleges to get an education.

This is true because so many of the students, obliged to earn their own living, have taken government positions in Washington which they cannot relinquish in order to go elsewhere. It is true here, and only to a very slight degree is it true elsewhere.

I am sure our large enrollment will be gratifying to the students themselves. It means greater student activity, enlarged circles of friendship, more and better material for teams, increased enthusiasm and confidence.

But neither faculties nor student body will for a moment believe that numbers make a great university. Personally, I so fear that our size will create the impression that we have lowered our standards (although the contrary is the case) that I shall urge the summary dropping of any student who does not avail himself in the fullest measure of all the opportunities offered by the University.

The best work that each man or woman is capable of will be expected. With facilities severely taxed, our duty is to those who do their utmost. Mere passing is not a sufficient claim to favorable consideration. I feel compelled by the circumstances of our crowded classrooms to make this statement, although realizing that the overwhelming majority of our students need no urging to study diligently.

I trust that everyone enrolled in the University will feel a sense of the responsibility resting upon him as a student. Student life—student association is one of the most powerful factors in education. It is a question whether students learn more from their instructors or from each other.

Traits of character as well as many faculties of mind receive their highest development in student activities—in debating clubs, fraternities, sororities, teams, clubs and editorial boards. That all these organizations may flourish is my earnest wish. I know it is the determination of the student body that our athletic and social standards as well as our instruction, shall be high; that all our work shall be thorough; that our sport shall be clean—no professionalism in the team, no discourtesy on the field or on the bleachers. In the athletic field, into which we have entered, we are going to win, but to win by first making ours the best teams.

Our University offers much to call out the best in us. The name of George Washington inspires and excites to emulation. It suggests sincerity, candor, moderation, self-control, obedience to and respect for law and constituted authority. It calls for conservative progress instead of rash experimentation. It stands for America and Americanism, for America's institutions, its Constitution, its independence. Our roster of alumni and former students is also one that stimulates us to the highest effort. In great numbers these men and women have succeeded. They have done so by hard work, individual effort, conscientious discharge of duties which they regarded as personal. I commend their example to the students of 1920-21. I know of no other way to genuine, self-satisfactory achievement, for there is no royal road to learning, nor to success.

BOARD OF MANAGERS NOW CONTROLS ALL ACTIVITIES

Takes Place of Former Faculty Committee Under New System Starting This Fall.

With the opening of college this fall the Board of Managers, approved by the President's Council and the Board of Trustees of the University begins, under a new plan, the control and direction of all student activities. The new executive body takes the place of the old faculty committee.

The Board of Managers is composed of four faculty members, two alumni and two students from the University at large. Three of the faculty members, one from each of the departments of Medicine, Law and Arts and Sciences, have been appointed by the President of the University. The fourth faculty member is the Director of Student Activities, who is also chairman of the board. The two student members are elected by the Student Council.

The duties of the Board of Managers as stated specifically in the recently adopted plan, are as follows:

- (a) To control and direct student activities.
- (b) To determine the amount of the voluntary student fee.
- (c) To appropriate funds from the Student Activities treasury.
- (d) To have final decision as to the selection of coaches or instructors for all student activities.

Notice to Students Enrolling

All students enrolling in George Washington University MUST sign the STUDENT ACTIVITY BLANK, which can be obtained in the department in which they are registering. Fill out the ACTIVITY BLANK and return it to the clerk, recorder or secretary who registers you in the University. No matter how many or how few hours you are registered for, the Student Activity Department MUST know your name, address, class, department and occupation, as well as the various activities in which you are or might be interested as a participant, spectator or supporter. Fill out the name of the organizations in G. W. U. to which you belong. It is hoped and expected that EVERY STUDENT will sign up for the ACTIVITY TAX, although this is NOT compulsory. Your activity tax in part or as a whole is paid to the Treasurer of the University or persons designated by him. READ the STUDENT ACTIVITY BLANK, THE HATCHET and THE G. W. U. HANDBOOK.

STUDENT BACKING TO MAKE G. W. U. GREAT

Bryan Morse Thinks University Should Take Its Proper Place of First Rank in Country.

"With the proper backing of the student body and the support and interest already shown by the President, Board of Trustees, Faculties, Student Council and Board of Managers, George Washington should take its rightful first rank among the colleges of the country. Plans already made and in operation are laid upon established lines which make for success. The past can be forgotten in the present bright outlook for the future. It is with great interest that I look forward to helping to make George Washington what it should be."

This is the statement made by Bryan Morse, newly appointed Director of Student Activities.

Early in June the announcement was made that Mr. Morse had accepted the position created by the President and Board of Trustees following the new plan for student activities. Mr. Morse began his duties immediately.

With the help of the Board of Managers and Student Council, much ground was covered. Plans for the University Hatchet, Student Handbook, Student Activity Blank plan and arrangements for the football season were completed and are already in working order.

The new director graduated from Western High School in 1905 and from Clarkson College, New York, in 1909, with a degree of B. S. He completed a year of postgraduate work at G. W. U. the following year. In 1913 he was appointed director of athletics at Western High School, organizing the athletics there to a high degree of efficiency. During his stay at Western his teams won one track championship, two basketball championships and a baseball championship, besides taking first honors five times in freshman championships.

At Western High as a student Mr. Morse won letters in all sports. At Clarkson College he won five letters his freshman year. He is a member of O. Pi. O. fraternity and Sigma Chi, was born in Washington and for several years past has been writing sports for The Washington Times.

UNDERWOOD SIGNS.

Gene Underwood filled out, signed, and paid for the first Student Activity Blank and Activity Tax Card.

THAT EARLY BIRD.

You've heard about the early bird? How about The Hatchet? Right on the job, isn't it? The Handbook is out. Did you get one? The football team is practicing. The Student Activity Blank is all ready. You signed one when you registered? Did you sign the activity tax too?

FRESHMAN SMOKER.

Freshmen, remember the date. The Inter-Fraternity Association will entertain the freshmen with a smoker in the Medical Building, Friday night, Oct. 1, at 8 o'clock. Representatives from the various organizations of the University will be there to acquaint the new-comers with what is going on and give them a cordial welcome. ALL FRESHMEN ARE INVITED.

G. W. U. STARTS ON NEW SYSTEM

University Student Activities Department Maps Out Campaign for Athletics During Summer Months Through Meetings of Board of Managers and Student Council—Football Squad Now at Work

George Washington University is beginning a new era. A department of student activities has been created. The director is already on the job. The entire program of student activities for the year has been planned and mapped out. Here is the new University Hatchet. The football team is already at work in Potomac Park. Details for the season are practically complete. Meetings of the Board of Managers and the Student Council throughout the summer have made these things possible.

A set of eligibility rules for student activities will be presented by the Student Council shortly. Members of the various organizations at the University have been consulted during the summer session. The new student activity blanks have been printed with the activity tax blanks and are now ready for distribution.

The University is one hundred years old; the first hundred years are the hardest. A fine start has been made on our second hundred years. The rest is up to you.

Everything that has been done during the summer months has been planned and executed along well established lines of success. Tradition that goes with age cannot be bought, but a foundation for the future fame of George Washington can be laid, and successfully, by carrying through all that has been planned for the coming year.

The creation of the Board of Managers with the Student Council and a Director of Student Activities means untold possibilities for George Washington.

FOR BETTER G. W. U.

We have had possibilities for years. It has been the subject of much comment. Let's CAPITALIZE those possibilities for a bigger, better, stronger, and grander George Washington University.

Let's all "Hew To The Line;" let's make George Washington THE University of the United States, THE University of the world. No more fitting site could be found; no greater name could be suggested.

The planning out of activities which includes all athletics, the fostering and aiding all organizations, societies, and clubs of the University is dependent upon the signing of the Voluntary Student Tax.

STUDENT COUNCIL EXPECT 3,500 TO SIGN FOR TAX

President W. Cameron Burton Says a Great Year is Ahead After Students Back Up Signatures.

"The Student Council expects 3,500 to sign the Student Activity Tax this year," says W. Cameron Burton, president. "Without this number of signers little can be expected of accomplishment in the way of athletic possibilities or other student activities."

"For the coming year the Council has set itself to the task of securing 3,500 signers. After this task is accomplished everything will follow in course and the year will be one of great achievement for George Washington."

"The students should be reminded that meetings of the Council are open to those interested in attending. Constructive criticism is especially solicited, for it is only through such criticism that faults are corrected and that harmony and cooperation prevail," says President Burton.

Not the least of the things the Council has done is the holding each year of a series of Council Dances where the students of the University may become better acquainted with one another. The annual Freshman Prom is another event which the Council has under its supervision and which it seeks to make a thoroughly University affair.

The Council has in the past always decided upon the awarding of letters to the members of the athletic teams and has just recently decided upon a definite insignia to be awarded.

Managers of the various athletic teams are selected by the Council, as are the Editors and Business Managers of the school publications.

dent Tax. There can be no greater George Washington, no football, baseball, basketball or track teams worthy of a big University, no organizations of the University known beyond a stone's throw unless the student body backs up the ACTIVITY TAX.

In brief the Director of Student Activities, through the activity blanks, wants to know who you are and what you are interested in and to what organization you belong. And in addition George Washington University and those who are watching you want to know if you will back your interests of your organizations by signing the ACTIVITY TAX.

Read your activity and voluntary tax blank carefully.

WHAT'S ON BLANK.

Here's what your tax blank means for you:

It will give you weekly The University Hatchet, the student publication, for thirty weeks delivered to you.

It will give you the Cherry Tree, the George Washington year book.

It will give you admission to all football, baseball and basketball games, all field and track meets, tennis matches, swimming meets, boxing and wrestling exhibitions, varsity or class games, and to all other approved student activities.

It will give you medical benefits, including physical examination of all athletic teams, emergency treatment at games, office or home treatment not exceeding three visits during any one illness, exclusive of a specialist or surgical operations.

It will give you hospital benefits comprising room and board, medicine and an undergraduate nurse at the University Hospital for not more than three weeks during the school term, necessity to be determined by the physician of the University.

MUST SIGN BLANK.

The Student Activity Blank must be signed just the same as any other registration blank in any other department of the University. It is hoped that George Washington University will be 100 per cent on signing the Voluntary Tax.

Blanks are to be found in the offices of the various deans from members of the Student Council, the Director of Student Activities, or from the members of any organization at George Washington.

When signed the blanks are to be turned in to the Director of Student Activities. Fees are payable at the office of the University Treasurer.

Immediately upon the payment of the fee the student will receive the coupon properly stamped that entitles him to the various privileges.

Let's all back up G. W. U. by signing the blanks at once and then signing the Activity Tax Blank.

HANDBOOK IS OUT.

The new G. W. U. Handbook edited and published by the Student Council is out. Look it over. See just what's going on and what's doing here. Become a real G. W. U. man or woman at once. Don't wait for some one else.

G. W. U. IS PROUD.

George Washington University is proud of the fact that J. Thilman Hendrick, newly appointed District Commissioner, is a G. W. U. man of the class of 1897. He is a member of the Phi Delta Phi fraternity.

The Hatchet's Aims

Those who have vision can present at once things vitally, essential to the growth and upbuilding of the University. The Hatchet is aligned with those who are interested in seeing a Greater George Washington, an institution nationally known and famous. The opportunity is at hand.

To the end that these things are accomplished and as speedily as possible, The Hatchet sets itself on record as working for dormitories, an athletic field and stadium where colleges and university can be invited and entertained in sports; a well-equipped and thoroughly modern gymnasium for the use of men and women; for the institution of physical training courses for all university students; for an endowment of such proportions as will rehabilitate the dental school; for the replacement of George Washington on the Carnegie Endowment Fund list; for a large endowment which will materially provide for a large number of students who are helping themselves to get a college education; for a closer connection between the alumni and students of the institution; and for the concerted action of all students, faculties and the alumni for a great institution such as George Washington is surely growing to be.

Not in importance are these big things set down. The Hatchet intends working for all of them as it believes them to stand out above all other aims. Are you going to do your share?

You Have Heard It

There's a new slogan going the rounds of the University. You've heard it! It's been whispered to you by the tinkling winds that ebb around the corridors, fanned to you by the talk of peppy students, roared at you by the council members while you were waiting to sign away your money to the Deans.

And this is it: "Sign the Activity Tax."

It's the rage, this signing the tax. It's what you do to see the football games and the track meets and the great tiddly-winks competition! It's what you do to get The Hatchet and the Cherry Tree and cut-price drugs from the U. It's what you do to hear the future Demosthenians orate! It's the greatest little money saving game you've heard of.

This Activity Tax is the article which is going to finance all the student activities; it's the means by which the Council is going to buy insignia for the grid athletes; it's the thing which will pay the University for caring for you when you get the mumps or flu or writer's cramp!

Get in the swim! Line up and sign a Tax Card. Help along this finance scheme and make it more of a success than it's been before. The whole scheme needs your support. And if you come across, the other guy will come across, and G. W.'s name will be blazoned from the treetops for what it really is—"Some School."

Sign the Voluntary Tax!!!!!!

As Webster Remarked

"Policy," said Noah Webster, "is in the final analysis, sagacity of management." That's what The Hatchet is going to have this year—sagacious management, which means judicial handling.

The circulation, handled through the Student Tax, will exceed that of any previous year.

Finances, properly taken care of by the business manager, will make possible a four-page paper, which will grow to eight.

The news, gathered by the editorial staff, will be transformed into interesting, enlightening and peppy articles.

To secure a paper, successful and satisfactory in every way, a paper which will fulfill its mission by holding a mirror to the life of the University, is The Hatchet's policy.

JUST ONE WORD.

Just one little word to G. W. U. men and women in regard to advertising. The Hatchet as well as the University is being helped by those who have had confidence in the student publication to place advertising. When you buy, get it from an advertiser in The Hatchet. And, best of all, help The Hatchet by saying, "I saw your advertisement in The Hatchet." That's what counts.

WILL HOLD TOURNEY.

The first annual fall tennis tournament will be held beginning October 4. Entries should be handed in to John G. Ladd, captain of the tennis team. Silver cups will be awarded winners in men's singles and doubles, women's singles and doubles and in mixed doubles. Play will start on the courts in Potomac Park October 4.

Stupid Steve Says:-

—Some guy outta write a song dedicated to the public entitled, "Take it from me they take it from you."

—"All is fair (fare) in love and railroads."

—"What's become of the ushers who used to pass around the ice water at the theaters during intermission?"

(1) Dear Steve:

Is it possible for you to tell me how many dead there are at Arlington?

Answer: Sure; all of 'em.

(2) Dear Stupe:

Why do they call truth the "naked truth?"

Answer: Because "bare" facts are "exposed."

(3) Dear Mr. Steven:

Which travels the faster, the heat or the cold?

Answer: A motorcycle. (Thanks for the stamps.)

1. Each freshman shall, the first two weeks of school, wear his coat upon his arm, so the Greeks may ascertain at a glance whether he belongs to a fraternity or not.

2. No fraternity shall bid a man more than once during the same semester. This encourages competition.

3. No fraternity shall "bid" or initiate a man without first gaining his consent.

4. The use of intoxicating liquor, etc., as a lure, is hereby forbidden.

5. For the convenience of the fraternities each "hopeful one" should fill out the following questionnaire.

1. How are you?..... (Answer yes or no.)

2. Are you the only child?..... (If not, have you any brothers going to the University who might be interested?.....)

3. Do you play the piano?..... Saxophone?..... Drums?..... Vicrola?..... What the h— do you play?..... And why?.....

4. Have you an auto?..... Any chance of getting one?.....

5. Have you money?..... (Answer "yes".) How much?.....

6. What church do you go to?..... Why don't you go?.....

7. Have you received a "bid" from any other fraternity?..... Which ones?..... What the h— do you want?..... (If more space is needed use other side.)

8. How long do you expect to attend college?..... How long will you attend college?

9. Will you loan me $10.00?.....

10. Can you stand a lot of torture?..... How much?.....

11. Have you any sisters?..... What do they look like?..... (If you don't use that language, write "no" after the first part of this question.)

Lissen all ye fellow students. If any of you guys think it's a cinch to write this "sob stuff" each and every week you got the privilege without reservations) of trying it anytime you'r ready. I mean to tell you that I need help. Come across with anything you hear that tickles your funny bone. Just address it to The Hatchet Office, c/o Stupid Steve. We want to start a column of "Campus Comments" containing any dumb things that are pulled off in classes or on the campus. For the love of Mike, cooperate or they'll Article X me.

STUPID STEVE.

WATCH THIS SPACE.

In this space, or near by, each week will be kept an account of the way the students are signing up the ACTIVITY TAX. More than two hundred students in the various departments have SIGNED already. In view of the fact that registration has been going on but two or three days, the signing of this number is a first-class argument that the ACTIVITY TAX is going over BIG. Sign that ACTIVITY BLANK. Then BE SURE TO SIGN THE ACTIVITY TAX.

TAKE THE HANDBOOK.

The first issue of THE HATCHET is free. Look it over. Take a G. W. U. HANDBOOK, too. THEN SIGN THE TAX.

GREAT YEAR AHEAD FOR G. W. U. ACTIVITIES

Students, Faculty and Alumni Bring About Football Resumption, With Exceptional Prospects Offered in All Other Departments of the University -- Women Encouraged in All Branches of Athletics

The coming school year holds the very brightest prospects for George Washington University. Through the efforts of many students and faculty members, football has been revived and all collegiate athletics have been given an impetus. Once again the wearers of the "Buff and Blue" will go forth on the gridiron to fight for the glory of their school.

The work of the newly appointed Director of Student Activities, Mr. Bryan Morse, all through the summer months has put in readiness the new system for the control of all school interests. There remains only to set the machinery in motion.

The football squad was called together on the 10th of September, and training started on September 15th. An excellent schedule has already been arranged which is to include a game with the midshipmen at the Naval Academy on November 11th. There is a great deal of excellent football material in the school and with the spirit which comes as a by-product of football there can be no doubt that the "Buff and Blue" will put a winning team on the gridiron.

BOETELER IS LEADER.

Basketball is to follow close on the heels of football and under the leadership of Charles M. Boeteler this year's basketball captain, we can be assured that George Washington will triumph. Arthur Hall is manager.

Athletics for the women of the University will be greatly extended, giving them a wider field in which to utilize their athletic talents. Class teams will be fostered and encouraged, for it is from these that the University will draw its future varsity teams.

The Student Tax, upon which all student activities are dependent, is sure to be a great success because of the advantages it offers to the students. And looking ahead into the coming year we can see success, nothing but success.

George Washington is going ahead to do big things. It will be a great year. In other departments increased enrollment in student members as well as in faculties spell success. Each person in G. W. U. has his work cut out for him.

NEW COURTS EXPECTED.

Two tennis courts will probably be owned and operated by the University for students next spring. Lots on Twenty-first Street, between G and H, will admit of two first-class courts. It is expected that they will be ready by early spring.

FRESHMAN GIRLS TAKE NOTICE

The Panhellenic Association of G. W. U. wishes to remind the Freshmen that the women's fraternities are bound by the rules of the National Panhellenic Congress, one of which is that no girl who is a member of a high school sorority is eligible to membership to a National Panhellenic Congress Fraternity. This ruling will be enforced.

FOOTBALL MEN START UP WORK FOR SEASON

The football season is on. The George Washington University football team has started work in Potomac Park. Within a week after college opens the Freshman team will get under way. Football means that G. W. U. is on the map again. The varsity schedule is the most pretentious of any institution in the South Atlantic Division.

Three teams of first-rate standing are met during the year. West Virginia Wesleyan, West Virginia University and the Navy and scheduled, as well as Western Maryland, Delaware, Villanova, Bethany, Fordham, Catholic University and Gallaudet.

It is safe to say that no other college in this section has better conditions for football. The field is situated in Potomac Park just south of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. It can be reached easily from downtown by street car.

The candidates will use the facilities at the Tidal Basin bathing beach. Large steel lockers, showers, and other modern accessories, a well lighted and ventilated field house will make the practice sessions enjoyable.

The football field will be used after dark if necessary and practice sessions have been facilitated by the erection of three electric light poles with fixtures for a flood-light system which will make the field as light as day.

The Board of Managers and Director of Student Activities Bryan Morse, who will coach the varsity, arranged for the football field through the Office of Public Buildings and Grounds during the summer. The football schedule, partially arranged, was completed. Through the courtesy of L. Gordon Leech the use of the lockers and field house was arranged.

The candidates have been at work since the initial meeting on September 10. Some fifty men responded to the call for candidates, and a preliminary outline of the season was talked over by the coach and manager.

EIGHT NEW MEN ARE ADDED TO LAW SCHOOL FACULTY

Dean Merton L. Ferguson, of the Law School, has secured four new professors who will devote their entire time to teaching. They are: Prof. Lyman P. Wilson, B. S., Knox College, J. D., University of Chicago; Hector C. Spaulding, A. B., Dartmouth College, LL. B., Harvard; Albert Levitt, A. B., Columbia University, LL. B., Harvard; Thomas A. Lavery, LL. B., George Washington.

Professor Wilson has had long experience as a teacher of law at both the Universities of Idaho and Oklahoma. Professor Spaulding formerly taught at Stanford University.

Four new lecturers in law have also been secured. Wilbur LaRoe, A. B., Princeton, LL. B., New Jersey Law School, Chief Examiner at the Interstate Commerce Commission, will give the course in Public Utilities. Frank S. Smith, A. B., Wesleyan University, LL. M., George Washington, will teach Wills and Real Property III. Spencer Gordon, A. B., Princeton, LL. B., George Washington, will give a course in Income Tax Law. Gilbert L. Hall, A. B., Swarthmore, LL. B., George Washington, will conduct one of the four moot courts. Messrs. Smith, Gordon, and Hall are all attorneys practicing in the city of Washington.

The teaching staff this year will consist of six full-time professors and fifteen part-time professors and lecturers.

A new division of the moot court will be established. Admiralty, Public Utilities, Income Tax Law, Mortgages, Real Property III, and Damages will be given. These subjects have been added since the publication of the 1920-21 catalog.

On account of the greatly increased enrollment expected this year, the first and second year classes will be divided into three sections. One section of each class will be held from 9:00 to 11:00 in the morning and two sections from 5:10 to 6:50 in the afternoon.

Full first and second year work will be given in the forenoon classes, which were re-established last year after suspension during the war. A few second and third year subjects will be given in the early morning, 7:50 to 8:40. Full senior work will be offered in the forenoon classes next year.

SUMMER SCHOOL COMPLETES MOST SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Sixty-nine Per Cent Increase Is Registered Over Last Year's Session in Law School and Columbian

The George Washington University has completed one of the most successful summer schools in its history, for which due credit must be given to the professors for their untiring efforts in behalf of the University.

In Columbian College there was a record enrollment of 434 men and 348 women, making a total registration of 782, which is an increase of 69.6 per cent over the net registration of the 1919 session.

The registration at the Law School was 23 women and 247 men, making a total of 270, which is an increase of 30.3 per cent. Of this number 41 were students who had never before registered for law.

No session was held at the Medical or Pharmacy Schools because of the complete renovation of the buildings and the addition of new equipment.

The increase in the summer enrollment of the entire University for the session just completed as compared with the registration of 1919 is 57.4 per cent.

CAN YOU SWIM?

Plans are under way for a swimming team this year. As soon as the call goes out for swimming candidates be sure to report. Don't forget to sign the Student Activity Blank which lets the Student Activity Department know what you are interested in at G. W. U.

GIRLS HAVE SPORTS.

Girls' athletics have received a big boost in the University. Plans are under way for basketball, swimming, and baseball this year. It is expected that a class league will be formed for girls in basketball. The regular varsity schedule will be maintained and broadened as far as possible.

Have you signed the Blank?

WORKS ON DATES.

Arthur Nall is working on an attractive schedule for basketball, which will include one or two first-class trips this winter.

TAKES LONG JAUNT.

The football team takes a long trip to Morgantown, W. Va., on October 16 to play the West Virginia University team. Twelve veterans from last year have reported to the West Virginia coach. They started work in a summer camp in the mountains Sept. 13.

WE PLAY C. U.

Catholic University played by G. W. U. on Thanksgiving Day here, also plays Villanova College. C. U. will be coached by Harry Robb, of Penn State.

NEW RULES COMING.

A list of eligibility rules for athletics and other student activities will be presented to the Board of Managers shortly after college opens by the Student Council.

COACH MORSE WANTS GRID MEN

It may be that you have been overlooked in the canvass of football candidates in the University. Information and data was gathered on available men as far as possible. It is quite likely that many men who could make the football team have been overlooked. If you have had football experience and think you can go out for the team, dig up Russell I. Whyte, football manager, or Verne P. Simmons, assistant manager, or report to Coach Bryan Morse at the Tidal Basin bathing beach or at his office 2033 G Street Northwest, phone West 1658.

Hello, Fellows!

IT'S BEEN a quiet old town, over the summer. But with five thousand of you, you ought to have things humming pretty soon, now. Student activities are a large part of our social season, in the Capital.

The Nationally Known Store dresses many a George Washington man for evenings. This season the Tuxedo jacket will be the big thing—even for dances. The Full Dress coat is becoming popular chiefly among the older fellows, now. It is a more serious affair.

Velour Hats now substitute for the silk hat, too, in many instances. But we show the Silk Hat, too, of course.

The change in dress furnishings and footwear is chiefly a change for better quality, this season.

WHILE a great many fellows include a Frock Coat and striped trousers in their wardrobes, lots of them simply have their "business" suit which is reserved for school holidays, fine enough to answer for formal morning wear, also. Of course, a dark color is chosen. A plain, dark grey suit, grey soft hat or black derby, white shirt and a black-and-white scarf, and black or brown high or low shoes, form a quite conventional outfit.

Brogue shoes, both high and low cut, are the thing in footwear. Wool socks will be worn with them. Sensible.

LOTS of fellows spend Saturdays on the links or in the country, in early fall. We always have a large showing of Golf Suits with knickerbockers or trousers, and Lounge and Sport Suits for them. Not only American productions, but specimens from good English custom tailors, many of whom we solely represent in Washington.

We hope we are not talking like a million dollars. For our prices are well within bounds, in appreciation of how far a college man wishes to go, in planning his school wardrobe. That, in fact, is what makes us popular at George Washington.

Come in and see the new styles in young fellows' clothes.
